

Position Title

Insights Developer

Job Purpose

The Insights Developer is responsible for developing and maintaining business reports, analyzing data requirements, and delivering accurate insights to support business decision-making through SQL development, reporting solutions, and performance optimization.

Key Responsibilities

- The Business Intelligence Designer/Developer will translate the business information needs into technical requirements and develop reports that provide the information required to make effective business decisions.
- Support the design, development, and maintenance of various operational reports, which may include facilitation and information gathering sessions with business process owners and other information consumers throughout the organization.
- SQL writing skills preferable PLSQL/SQL Developer to help generate and create reports from database.
- Basic coding experience to design RTF template.
- Performance Tuning to help improve the query performance.
- Basic understanding of financial domain to understand the business requirements.
- ETL experience will be an added advantage (Any ETL Tool).
- Knowledge in Flexcube (Any versions)
- Knowledge in Infinity or FCDB will be an added advantage
- A continuous learning attitude to keep up with new emerging technologies.

Job Requirements

- Bachelor's degree in computer science/information technology/MIS
- Good Communication Skills
- Basic Understanding of DBMS Query Language
- Experience in Designing and Developing Reports using Microsoft Word
- Ability to understand Banking & Finance Business Practices and Translate requirements into a creative reporting solution